Changes to the lecture notes — 1

A few items in the document(s) `dgnotes2006aa.` have been corrected or updated in the more recent version `dgnotes2006b.`. Here is a listing of the nontrivial changes so that it is not necessary to print out an entire copy of the first 51 pages of the notes (minor misprints and stylistic modifications have not been included in order to focus on the main points).

pages 34–35. There were some sign errors in the discussion of the local canonical form for a curve, and these have been corrected. The pages in the old version should be replaced with pages 34–35 in the more recent version.

page 37. References for the uses of differential forms in O'Neill have been inserted.

page 46. The first web link on the page has been changed to a later version of the same material.
